JENNY DOLLY HAS A ROMANCE

TWO VIEWS OF JENNY DOLLY AND A CLOSEUP OF H. GORDON SELFIDGE

BY BASIL WOON
Exclusive Dispatch, Copyright 1926

PARIS, Jan. 13.—Although I have Jenny Dolly's personal word for it that her reported secret marriage to Gordon Selfridge was "tommyrot," it wouldn't surprise me much if wedding bells didn't ring in that direction one day.

Selfridge and Jenny have been seen a lot together of late. Perhaps there is something in the lively little Hungarian which recalls to him his earlier friend, Gaby Deslys.

Selfridge, who landed in London thirty years ago with nothing but an idea, owns England's largest department store and is one of the realm's richest men. He is a funeral sort of person who seldom smiles and who dresses like one of his own floor-walkers. But I have heard that when you know him he is a likeable sort and quite lively. His daughter married a peer last year.

The Dolly Sisters of America have always been popular in France and now that they have given a million francs to the Actors' Union at the expense of the Moulin Rouge, who must pay them that sum for losing a lawsuit over a contract, they are probably the best-loved artistes now playing.

The Dollys are rich and a long time ago they could have given up work. Instead, they labor incessantly, even to the point of going to dancing school daily, their ambition being to perfect their technique.

"If I didn't work," said Rosy to me seriously one day, "I'd grow old and die."

Many Minds SIGNIFICANT SAYINGS OF THE DAY

"Religion is too dry. It needs humanizing. It needs the dance. It needs the theater. ... In my judgment the church has been utterly wrong in its attitude toward dancing. Dancing is an instinct. The human foot moves instinctively to music. Human beings have always danced and always will. All objections to the dance have arisen because of conditions we commonly associate with dancing. Far better that we place the dance in a church environment."—Rev. Dr. John Thompson, pastor of Chicago Methodist Temple, before an assemblage of ministers.

"Shaven necks, cloyingly combed faces, cigarettes and drug store gin are not only detrimental to feminine beauty but fatal to matrimonial aspirations."—Ultimate of the Nature Beauty Shop Owners' Association.

"If England could transport a majority of its city population to the wilder parts of Australia and leave them there more or less to their own resources those who survived would develop into respectable persons after two or three generations."—Prof. Ernest W. MacBride of the Imperial College of Science.

"The United States is far too modest about what it is accomplishing! ... We have uniformed persons ranting about the blow-hard characteristics of America. They say the United States is too brazen about itself. Anything farther from the truth could scarcely be imagined. Any one who knows this splendid country—a country that Australia has endeavored to pattern itself after in many ways—knows that the United States does not do enough talking about itself."—Stanley Bruce, premier of Australia, now in United States.

LOOK AT CHILD'S TONGUE IF SICK, CROSS, FEVERISH

Curry, Mother! Remove poisons from little stomach, liver, bowels

Give "California Fig Syrup" at once if bilious or constipated

Look at the tongue, mother! If coated, it is a sure sign that your little one's stomach, liver and bowels need a gentle, thorough cleansing at once.

When peevish, cross, listless, pale, doesn't sleep, doesn't eat or act naturally, or is feverish, stomach sour, breath bad; has stomach ache, sore throat, diarrhoea, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of "California Fig Syrup," and in a few hours all the foul, constipated waste, undigested food and sour bile gently moves out of the little bowels without griping, and you have a well, playful child again.

You needn't coax sick children to take this harmless, "fruity laxative"; they love its delicious taste, and it always makes them feel splendid.

Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Fig Syrup" which has directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on the bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here. To be sure you get the genuine, ask to see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt.

VERDICT OF LANDIS IN COBB-SPEAKER CASE IS POSSIBLE

By DAVIS J. WALSH

INTERNATIONAL NEWS SERVICE, SPORTS EDITOR

NEW YORK Jan. 13.—There was a vague yet conscious promise today of possible developments in the scandal of Cobb and Speaker versus organized (or disorganized) baseball, hard upon Judge Landis' verdict of acquittal for Eddie Collins, Schalk, Bush, Rowland, Daus, Ehmanke and other defendants charged by Stedie Risberg with being accessories to a "barny" in September, 1917. Some unrecurrent activity in the Cobb-Speaker matter is eddying around the judge's headquarters in Chicago but official policy seems to call for neither admission nor denial.

The judge, usually frank with newspapermen, was evasive when I asked him whether he would receive Cobb and Speaker in the event that they attempted to reopen their case.

"I have reasons of my own for NOT saying what comes to mind," he said. "Just say that anybody can see me any time."

That Cobb and Speaker, having bided their time while awaiting the Risberg verdict, have been in communication with Landis, either personally, or through their attorneys, seems to be pretty well understood in certain well informed circles in Chicago. That the accused but neither convicted or exonerated stars will try to force Landis' hand appears to be equally probable.

They may take the Risberg verdict, with its refusal to accept the word of self implicated "fixers," as having established a precedent and demand that Landis render a decision in their case. It was because of the deposition of "Dutch" Leonard, who freely admitted his part in the alleged conspiracy, that Cobb and Speaker became involved in charges of engaging in a betting coupe late in the season of 1919.

However, the judge was smart enough not to commit himself either one way or the other on Leonard's charges; therefore, he can't very well be said that he took anybody's word for anything. It will be the policy of Cobb and Speaker, in consequence, to attempt the forcing of an admission of guilt or innocence and, if the former be the verdict, to take the matter into court.

Indications are, however, that Landis will decline to pass judgment on the case, in which case the courts again will be choice of the accused stars. They will contend that their names have been maligned and that baseball has left them without the benefit of an official ruling.

A possible factor in Cobb's defense clearly was established by his telegram to Landis, which gained a denial from all witnesses at the Risberg hearing that they ever had known of Cobb being other than exemplary ball player.

John McGraw's rather damaging admission that he had been told to "lay off" when he proposed signing Cobb also may be used as evidence in his behalf, while the fact that McGraw refused to condemn the players, has raised the bars against them.

It may be that another attempt will be made to persuade Leonard to come on from California to testify, thus re-opening the case automatically. Or it may be that the mountain, having refused to come to Mohammed, Mohammed will go to the mountain.

INJUNCTION STOPS COLLECTING OF TAXES IN BATH TOWNSHIP

Distribution of taxes received from the first half of 1926 collection in Bath Twp. School District, in excess of $39,262.50, representing one-half the school budget for the ensuing year, is held up under a temporary restraining order granted in Common Pleas Court Thursday to five members of the Board of Education of Bath Twp. School District against County Auditor Frank A. Jackson.

Auditor Wead is charged in the petition with fixing an excessive taxing rate for the district under which the school board will receive $101,532.80 instead of $78,505 asked in its budget, or an increase of $23,027.

C. C. Shetzl, L. H. Hartley, W. C. Cooper, H. R. Armstrong and L. B. Harner, plaintiffs in the suit, are members of Bath Twp. School Board.

The action is brought by them as taxpayers for the benefit of themselves and for other taxpayers within the same taxing district, according to the document.

It is contended that in July, 1926 the board of education certified its annual budget to Auditor Wead, calling for estimated expenditures of the school district for the ensuing year of $73,505 divided as follows: General fund, $57,800; teachers' retirement fund, $1,150; and interest and sinking fund—$19,555.

Total valuation on taxable property in the district at that time was $5,988,650.

In view of the fact the reappraisal was then in progress and it was probable this valuation would be changed, an election was held in November, 1926 when an extra three-mill levy was favorably voted upon in order to insure raising of the budget, it is claimed.

The reappraisal raised the total property valuation of the village to $7,438,300, after which, the petition continues, the County Budget Commission determined that the rate of taxation for the district as follows: Within the three mill limit, three mills; within fifteen mill limit, one mill; within no limit seven mills, a total of eleven mills.

In addition the state school levy was fixed at 2.65 mills making a total levy of 13.65 mills on the new valuation. Taxes which will accrue from this valuation will amount to $101,532.80, it is pointed out, whereas the budget of the school board called for but $78,505, making an excess of $23,027 permitted the board.

Pointing out that the 1926 tax duplicate for Bath Twp. School District has been made up and certified by Auditor Wead to Treasurer Jackson, who is now in process of collecting the first half of 1926 taxes in the district, plaintiffs allege that unless an injunction is granted, they and other taxpayers will be compelled to pay an unlawful taxing rate.

The court is asked in the petition to determine a requisite and lawful taxing rate for the district and to compel Auditor Wead to certify the Bath Twp. duplicate in compliance with a lawful rate of taxation.

It is also requested that the excess money received by reason of the alleged unlawful rate now in effect, be prorated by the auditor at the payment of the first half 1926 collection; that the amount each taxpayer shall be required to pay in collection of the last half of 1926 taxes may be reduced to the lawful rate as the court may determine, also by the excess paid by each taxpayer under the alleged unlawful rate now in effect.

Suit was brought through the law firm of W. L. Miller and J. A. Finney.

BIBLE THOUGHT

ASA'S PRAYER.—Lord, it is nothing with Thee to help, whether with many, or with them that have no power; help us, O Lord our God; for we rest on Thee, and in Thy name we go against this multitude. 2 Chronicles 14:11.

IT WOULD BE A NOVELTY

London too is launching a campaign against the jay-walker, but she is pursuing a method quite different from that commonly resorted to in countries having more dictatorial police than the proverbially courteous London "bobbies."

Posters and warning signs employed in the London campaign are couched in the words "Please cross here." The reasons for this designation are several. In the first place, England never succumbed as much as did this country to the arbitrary German system of "Verbotens." American laws, ordinances and regulations contain countless prohibitions, so it is natural for such campaigns as those against jay-walking to be waged with "Don'ts" from red signs and red-der policemen.

In England they order this otherwise. Their instructions are more in the affirmative and those whose duty it is to enforce those instructions are invariably courteous, to the point that they leave the impression of having conferred a privilege instead of denying a right.

Should the London campaign prove more successful than have similar traffic drives in American cities, it can not be adduced as an argument for the adoption here of British methods. Though a nation so accustomed to being "bawled out" by traffic cops and to "Shall-nots" might, because of the novelty of the thing, observe to the very letter a campaign conducted on the affirmative plan of the Londoners.

GLORIFYING WAR

Japan is being held up by the World Federation of Educational Associations as an example which the other Seventy nations might well follow in deleting from school text books such chapters and expressions which tend to glorify war and warriors. Spokesmen for the international association believe Japan has done more than any other country in revising school books in this direction.

Incalculable harm has been and is being done by text books in use in public and other schools which seem to go out of their way to picture war as the most glorious of pursuits and the soldier as a transcendent hero. One wonders if to these pseudo-historians war is ever unjust and dishonorable and if they can imagine a situation under which the heroic thing is to refuse to fight.

Those Americans who "went over" and those who lost loved ones in the World War and most other Americans would be opposed to another war unless there was actual invasion of American soil. And it is doubtful if the descendants of this generation will feel any more warlike.

But time erases the keen edge of bitter and terrifying memories and the whole trend of public opinion may change in a generation or two. It is highly possible that if school books continued year after year to inculcate into successive generations of impressionable children the idea that war is never inglorious and ever to be engaged in by nations and people, such reiterated teaching would breed in this country a generation of chip-carriers and militarists.

END OF A PERFECT CORNER

You remember the flyer in Stutz, by which Allen Ryan startled Wall Street some four years ago when he worked the stock up to $700 a share and made shorts "pay through the nose?"

That pretty little adventure has now been brought to its conclusion. People who Ryan owed, whether for ice, his wife's hats or cash on account, will get the magnificent sum of 18 cents on the $100. Samuel Untermyer, who served as Ryan's counsel in his $1,000,000 suit against the New York stock exchange, and who was to have received a fee of $45,000, gets $83.70. The Knox Hat Company, from which Ryan purchased a $7 headpiece on credit, gets one cent. The New York Trust Company, which held a claim against him of more than $4,000,000 gets less than $8,000.

Such is the end of one of those "perfect corners" by which young men are forever beating Wall Street.

The Theatre

Vitaphone, the wonderful invention which is the first device perfectly synchronizing sound and motion pictures, will have its Ohio premier at the Grand Theater, Columbus, Saturday, Jan. 22, and will continue there presenting a program of grand opera stars and great musical attractions besides the motion picture feature, "Don Juan," with John Barrymore in the lead.

Many times in the past it was announced that something had been devised to synchronize sound and the screen. But never was it perfectly done until last summer when Warner Brothers, picture producers, the Bell Telephone Company and the Western Electric Company got together on Vitaphone. This marvelous machine's first program is still running at the Warner Theater, New York City, now in its seventh month.

This program will be the first offered at the Grand, Columbus. Will Hays, America's movie czar, Roy Smek, famous banjoist, Anne Case, Metropolitan Grand Opera Star, Missa Elman, violinist, and Giovanni Martinelli, Metropolitan Grand Opera Singer are in it. These famous figures appear in motion pictures while the sounds of their musical performances are perfectly heard.

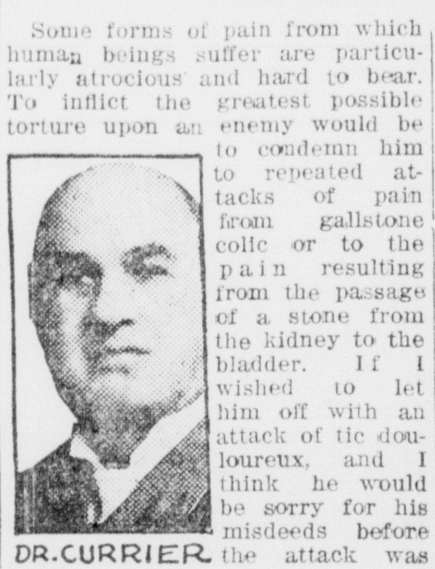

The second part of the program is the showing of John Barrymore in "Don Juan." This is accompanied by a great musical score in which the New York Philharmonic orchestra is heard. Mary Astor, William Louis and Estelle Taylor are in support.

A satire on the "wheels of justice" showing the attractive murderer who escaped punishment for her crime and lands in the vaudeville whirl, is the subject of "Chicago" recently presented to New York audiences. It has funny flashes and the rivalry of the vaudeville is cleverly depicted. The characters are all "types" with Francine Larrimore as the star.

Keeping HEALTHY
by Dr. A. F. Currier

TIC DOULOUREUX, OR PAINFUL SPASM

DR. CURRIER

Some forms of pain from which human beings suffer are particularly atrocious and hard to bear. To inflict the greatest possible torture upon an enemy would be to condemn him to repeated attacks of pain from gallstone colic or to the pain resulting from the passage of a stone from the kidney to the bladder. If I wished to let him off with an attack of the tic douloureux, and I think he would be sorry for his misdeeds before the attack was over.

The term means painful spasm, and the disease is a neuralgia of a branch of the facial nerve. It is not really an inflammation as inflammation is usually considered, but is just a very acute pain due probably to some disturbance in the molecular condition of the nerve tissue.

Exactly what this means, I do not pretend to know, and doubt if anybody else does. The facial nerve originates within the skull and is called a mixed nerve—that is, from one of its roots it sends out the power which will contract the muscles to which it is distributed, and from the other root which has branches distributed to the skin, it will give rise to sensations either painful or pleasant. One of its three main branches is distributed to the eyeball; another to the region of the upper and a third to the region of the lower jaw.

From the opening in the skull, just below the eyesocket emerges a branch of the nerve upon the face, spreading over its side. There is a separate facial nerve for each side of the face. Facial neuralgia may occur in either of these branches, and hence in any part of the face, but when the pain is intense, paroxysmal, and accompanied with spasm of the muscles of the face, it is the tic douloureux.

There is no variety of neuralgia more common than facial neuralgia. The upper branch of the nerve is most frequently attacked, the pain being in the eyeball and eyebrow. Sometimes the pain jumps from one branch of the nerve to another, the face, eyeball and teeth being in trouble, at once or successively; or there may be excruciating pain along the side of the tongue.

The pain comes and goes, lasting for weeks or for a day or two, then disappearing for a while, or it may be constant with varying degrees of severity. It may be so severe and persistent as to make the patient crazy, and even cause him to take his life in his desperation.

Some people are more susceptible than others to such troubles, and may inherit a tendency to it—just as they may have a tendency and susceptibility to other diseases. Sometimes it seems to result from diseased teeth, or from dampness, injuries, malarial poisoning, or poisoning in connection with an occupation.

There are no patent medicines that I know of that will do any good, though there are plenty which advertise that they can cure it. There are some powerful drugs, however, which are effective in relieving it, but not infrequently they fasten a drug habit on those who use them.

Osmic has frequently been injected into the substance of the nerve, through the opening in the skull, and it is said the disease has been permanently cured by such treatment.

Alcohol in seven to ninety per cent strength, with an addition of five per cent of carbolic acid, has been injected in hundreds of reported cases, and it is said that seventy-five per cent of these cases have been cured when the injection was properly made. The latter statement is important, for it is not easy to make the injection as so relieved, temporarily at any time, by the proper use of galvanism.

Ask Dr. Currier that medical question that has been puzzling you. Confine your letter to fifty words and send stamped, addressed envelope for reply. He cannot, of course, make individual diagnoses, and he reserves the right to decide as to the propriety of queries.

SONGS of a HOUSEWIFE
COPS by Marjorie K. Rawlings
NEIGHBORS' DOGS

From down the road, a Saint Bernard
Buries his bones in my front yard.
Then when the ground is soft from rain,
He comes and digs them up again.

A terrier, one block away,
Comes calling on me every day.
Leaving with shoes or rubber mats,
With steaks or chops or dolls or hats.

I drive the Airedales off my flowers,
And I have watched for hours and hours
My lincens bleaching on the ground,
While neighbors' dogs raced 'round and 'round.

But I feel sure no pranks are played—
Although he's often lost or strayed,
Although he's gone from nine to nine—
By that well-brought-up dog of mine!

Little Old New York

Exclusive Dispatch, Copyright 1927

NEW YORK, Jan. 13.—Billy Minsky, New York's Burley-cue Baron, sent a check at the first of the year to a theatrical paper, renewing his subscription.

"I am doing this at the request of Dr. Blank," he wrote to the editor "a very eminent and learned physician who said he found more interest in your publication than in Spinoza or Voltaire."

To which Ye Editor made answer: "Thanks for your very kind letter and your extremely kind enclosure which was the exact amount. Will you kindly request your doctor friend to let me know whether Spinoza and Voltaire are foreign publications and how their circulation compares with ours?"

"P. S.—Do you know any more doctors?"

"Abie's Irish Rose" recently reached its 2,000th performance on Broadway. The play opened at the Fulton theater, May 23, 1922 and shortly after moved to the Republic, where it is now in its fifth year, having played more consecutive performances than any other dramatic production in the history of the stage.

The play has grossed, to date, $20,000,000. There are six companies playing in the United States one in Australia, and an eighth company will open in London next April. Arrangements are now being completed to assemble a company in South Africa.

Anne Nichols, the author has just been guaranteed $2,000,000 for the movie rights.

The play was written and the name inspired by heavenly guidance. "Abie's Irish Rose" is the good Lord's answer to the "sinful pride" of the modern "Intellectual."

After much deliberation, New York members of the Journeymen Barbers' Union have come to the belief that "tipping debases the ethics of the tonsorial business."

Who says woman's influence in the affairs of men is not all potent, sweet and lovely? You never heard Signor Hot Towels babbling about "ethics" until Betty began to have her bean bobbed.

A New York columnist titles his department: "Personal Touches Along Broadway."

And believe me, Brother, there are many. Mazda Lane is where the "touch system" was perfected many years ago.

One of the oldest morning chronicles in Saptown on the Subway, reaching out for additional circulation, has taken to advertising its merits in the pages of its "vile contemporaries."

In a paper read by the Starchy Archies of the town, they advertise that they have "the most distinctive editorial page in American journalism." While in the "tabs" that are tucked into the pockets of the gum-chewing contingent, they blazon the announcement that their daily "comes" are pro bono publico nulli secundus and other delectable things.

Flowers for the ladies and bonbons for the babies. You pay your money. You take your choice.

After a close study of the various gubernatorial inaugural pictures in recent roto sections I am more than persuaded that if you wish to get a correct slant on a man's character, persuade him to be photographed in a silk hat.

WHEN MODEST MEN ARE UNPOPULAR

I doubt if anything will make a man temporarily unpopular and misunderstood so quickly as for him to be modest and attend to his own business.

We are all inclined to be suspicious of the fellow who goes quietly about his affairs. If his modesty makes him a poor mixer, we jump to the conclusion that he feels superior and aloof.

During the late war, I worked for a time in a government office and among the department heads there was a man whom everybody seemed to dislike.

I inquired what ailed the man, and learned that he was too stuck-up to have anything to do with other folk. Assuming that such information was correct, and that he preferred not to be annoyed with unnecessary human contacts, I followed the lead of others in letting him alone.

One night in a restaurant I found myself seated at a table near one where he was eating alone. He Nowadays, though, we don't have the troublesome task of gathering the sage and the mussy mixing at home. All drug stores sell the ready-to-use product improved by the addition of other ingredients, called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." It is very popular because nobody can discover it has been applied. Simply moisten your comb or a soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also produces that soft lustre and appearance of abundance which is so attractive.

noded and I couldn't resist the temptation to suggest that he move over to my table. Instead of haughtily rejecting the offer, as I feared he might, he seemed pleased.

We got to talking and he told me a little about himself.

"My parents died when I was a kid," he said, "and I went to live with relatives in the country. They fed and clothed me but took little interest in me. I had no young playmates. The result was that I never learned to mix. It is difficult for me to make the opening advances in getting acquainted with anybody. I have been in that office now for four months, but you're the first fellow who has made friendly overtures. You know," he added smiling, "I had an idea that you, along with some of the others, were sort of stuck-up."

And the sole reason I had kept aloof from the man was because I had thought he was stuck-up!

We later became warm friends. That and similar experiences have convinced me that the supposed grouch is more likely to be modest and diffident than cocky or mean.

Many who appear crabbed are lovely souls who will purr like a kitten when stroked the right way.

How to Achieve Beauty

DIAGNOSIS OF THE SKIN
Treatment for Thick Skins

In connection with the treatment for the thick or oily skin, I want to say that the first important step to take and to consider from an extraneous angle is the cleansing. Of all skins, the oily type seems to attract more of the undesirable elements in the air, such as dust and dirt. Furthermore, on account of the size of the pores, small particles of coarse powder and stale make-up become very easily imbedded and if a thorough cleansing is neglected for any length of time, the pores will become stretched and further enlarged. This is something which should most certainly be guarded against and the thorough daily cleansing will do it.

For this kind of skin I advocate the daily use of a washing preparation preferably in the form of a pore paste that really will penetrate beneath the surface and dissolve the particles lodged in the pores.

These washing preparations do more than clean out the pores. They have a certain gritty action on the skin which eliminates all the poison and waste material.

I also recommend the occasional use of a penetrative washing preparation for any skin of heavy texture even though the pores are not enlarged and there is little tendency to oiliness, and blackheads.

After the skin has been thoroughly cleansed, the next step is to apply your cream with a purpose. By this I mean a cream that best suits your skin's condition, one that will correct a condition that is not normal. That cream will depend on the individual condition of your skin.

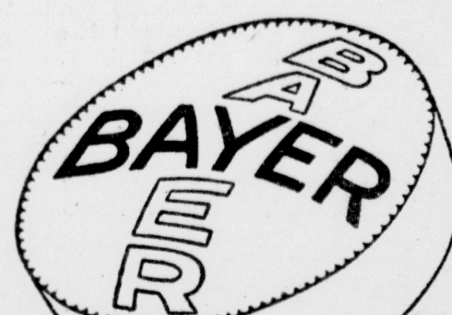

Then the application of your muscle tightening preparations should follow and these should be applied with firm upward motions that tone and brace, followed by a gentle patting in fleshy spots that will stir up the circulation and help to distribute the fatty tissue.

FOUR AMENDMENTS TO BASEBALL RULES PLANNED BY LANDIS

Judge Will Suggest Regulations To Prevent Scandals

CHICAGO, Jan. 13.—Four drastic amendments to the rules that regulate organized baseball, may be a direct result of the late Rube Roberg scandal affair, it was learned today.

Commissioner Landis, who returned a score or more of baseball's celebrities to their "holy white" clubbing with his decision which exonerated them of the charges brought by Rube Roberg, will himself suggest the four proposed changes in the baseball rules.

The amendments will be proposed and considered when a committee representing the major and minor leagues meet at French Lick Springs next Monday.

The commissioner's suggestions, which no doubt will be adopted are these:

1. A statute of limitations with respect to alleged baseball offenses.
2. Ineligibility for one year for offering or giving any gift or "reward" by players or managers of another club for services rendered in defeating a competing club.
3. Ineligibility for one year for betting any sum whatever upon any ball game in connection with which the better has any duty to perform.
4. Permanent ineligibility for betting any sum whatsoever upon any ball game in connection with which the better has any duty to perform.

BOWLING

First annual tournament to determine the doubles bowling championship of Xenia for 1927-28 got under way on the Arcade alley Tuesday night with eight two-man teams engaging in the first round of play.

Team of Gannon and Jeffries defeated Murphy and Peterson three straight games. In the three remaining matches, White and Pesavento took two out of three from Lee Regan and Jordan, Bice and Al Regan defeated William and Fred Horner two out of three and Berger and Malavazos won the odd game in three from Dice and Brickel.

Despite the loss of two games, Dice and Brickel rolled sensationally. In its final game this doubles team rolled a team total of 476 to set a record, Dice bowling 221 and Brickel 255.

Second annual singles tournament to decide the individual champion of the city this year will be held later in the season. Tuesday night's results:

Murphy	181	139	174
Peterson	146	167	179
Gannon	202	179	171

JUSTICE PROVES HE PAID $1 FINDING

J. T. Hornday, Miami, Twp., justice of the peace, has made a payment of the $1 findings reported against him in the recent examination of books of justices in the county.

The examination showed Hornday had paid the fine of the township instead of the county but later withdrew it from the township and paid it to its proper recipient. He produced a receipt to prove the payment in Thursday. With this announcement, findings against all justices made in the examination have been paid.

Our Answer to a Fair Question

A friend writes: "We like to trade at your Stores, but why is it you never hold sales?"

We believe this question a fair one and will answer it publicly.

We never hold sales because long experience tells us that we can serve your better interest every day in the year by using our dynamic selective and buying power to give you goods of quality and dependability at the lowest prices consistent with the prevailing market cost.

If we were to do this only now and then at a so-called "sale," we would be giving you only part-time service.

FUN FOR THE WHOLE FAMILY

Just AMONG US GIRLS

by Kathryn Kenney

In the old days a girl hooked a man, and he hooked her back for the rest of their lives. Now she slips it over her head, and over on him, too. In the case of two birds with one stone, it's on the woman's finger!

It's easy for a girl to wind a man around her little finger, but not by rule of thumb. Tears don't help her out; it's the man who gets the crying jag on.

Men used to go down on their knees to propose, although probably they were just begging for mercy! If a man registers with a girl he has a hard time checking out.

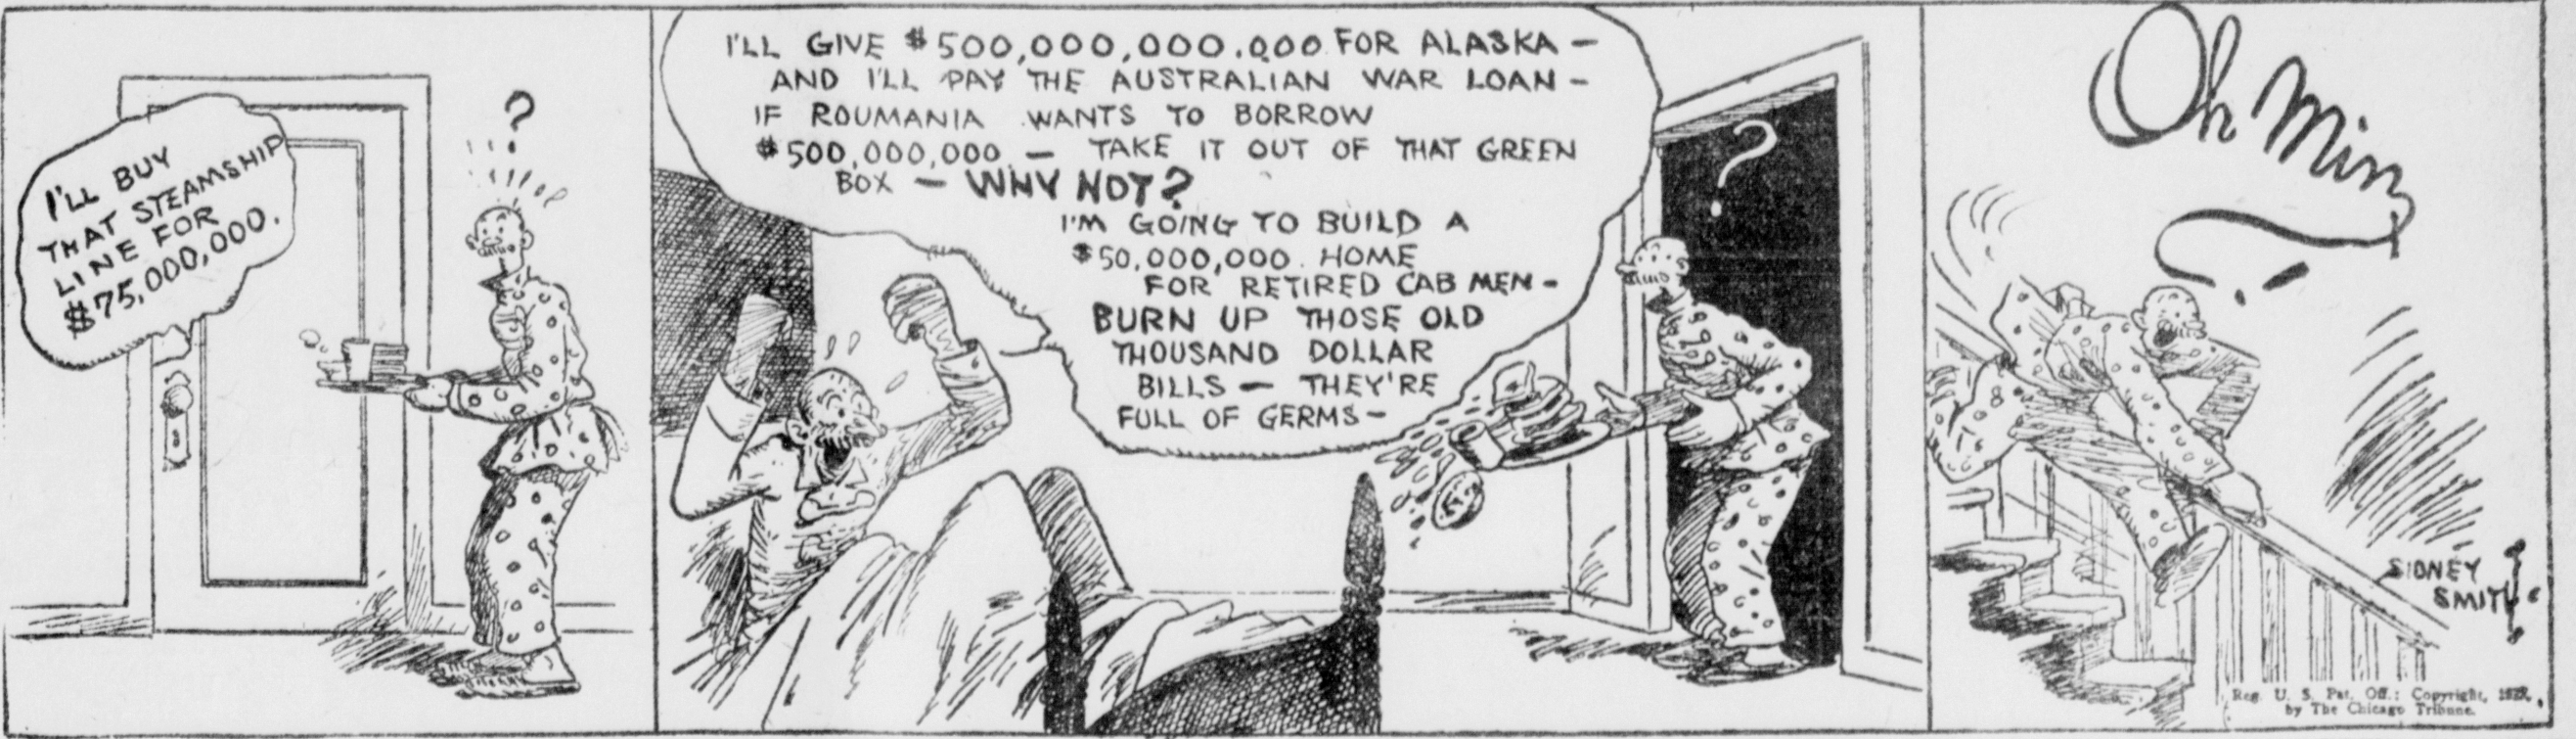

A man must have his office hours and a girl her businesslike moments. In the middle of a kiss

Most girls seem to be marrying the caterer, with the jeweler and dressmaker as rivals. The man doesn't seem to count, but he counts enough later to make up for it. And fast enough.

The groom doesn't get a chance to see his bride before the ceremony and he has a hard time seeing her afterwards. The ushers going to be married until the best see her through a Scotch mist.

Most men don't know they are man comes for them, and then they try to make the best man live up to his name. But he's not only the best man—he's the wisest! He pins a flower on the groom and it's a question of whether he's going to need it standing up or lying down.

SHORT TROUSERS FOR MEN ARE COMING

By BASIL WOON
Author of "The Paris That's Not

PARIS, Jan. 12.—Short trousers for men, already tremendously popular in England, where men wear the creaseless

to be launched as a national French

Just as plus-

My Smile Shows a row of pearls

By Edna Wallace Hopper.

I am asked by countless people how I got such pretty teeth. And now I keep them sound and glistening at my age.
This is what
I tell them.
For many years I spent on my teeth about 30 minutes daily. I used a cleanser, then a polisher, then an antiseptic mouth wash.
And I forced magnesia between the teeth to neutralize all acids.
All this I did under dental advice, and I consulted high authorities. But now the great experts have combined all these helps in one tooth paste. I just apply that, and it does in a minute, all I did with many applications.
This new-type dentifrice is called Quintend, which means five in one.
It is made by Quintend Laboratories to meet modern requirements. The makers supply me ten-day samples, and I will gladly mail one to anyone who asks. The coupon will bring it with my Beautee Book. Even on night's use will bring you new conceptions of a tooth paste.

The Farmer's Institute will be held at the new schoolhouse on the 24th and 25th of January. A good program has been arranged for the occasion. State speakers of prominence will be present at all the sessions. Good music will be furnished in abundance by home talent musicians. The last number, "A Womanless Wedding," will be presented on Tuesday evening, January 25. This interesting number will be participated in by about fifty high grade amateurs in the town and township.

BREAK A CHEST COLD WITH HEAT OF RED PEPPERS

Ease your tight, aching chest. Stop the pain. Break up the congestion. Feel at last cold loosen up in just a short time.

"Red Pepper Rub" is the cold remedy that brings quickest relief. It cannot hurt you and it certainly seems to end the tightness and drive the congestion and soreness right out.

Nothing has such concentrated, penetrating heat as red peppers, and when heat penetrates right down into colds, congestion, aching muscles and sore, stiff joints relief comes at once.

The moment you apply Red Pepper Rub you feel the tingling heat. In three minutes the congested spot is warmed through and through. When you are suffering from a cold, rheumatism, backache, stiff neck or sore muscles, just get a jar of Rowles Red Pepper Rub, made from red peppers, at any drug store. You will have the quickest relief known. Always say "Rowles."

BIJOU THEATER

TONIGHT AND FRIDAY
CAPTIVATING COLLEEN CLIPPED BY CUPID!

When a girl has spent most of her young life behind a delicatessen counter, love seems like a lot of baloney—if you knew what it was like to be a saleslady in the onion department of your old man's store you could appreciate how it feels when the door opens and the sweet breath of romance gently whispers in your ear, "Kiddo, he's crazy about you!"

S. S. CLASSES MEET

The Loyal Sons and Daughters' Sunday School Classes held their regular monthly meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Smith Tuesday evening, with about thirty members, and their families present. The program consisted of a devotional, and business meeting followed by a good social time, in which nontests for prizes were heartily engaged in by a number of competitors. Prize winners were Miss Ruthanna Smith and Mrs. Dorothy Strong. After the contests a short program was given. A song by a trio composed of Mrs. Lenna Jones, Mrs. Alice Smith and Mrs. Veda Beal was much enjoyed, followed by a duet by DeForest Strong and Charles Toms. Recitations by Miss Gladys Strome, and Mrs. Anna Toms;

NEW YORK RUINS ONE SUTTON TWIN!!

Some time ago I believe I mentioned here that Bernard Sutton expected to go to the New York Auto Show and as usual I was speaking the bare truth. HE DID GO TO THE SHOW!

He is now back in town after having been exposed to New York for five days! He landed here on a certain train being met by the entire staff of the Greene County Hardware Company and his Twin—Harry. In many respects he looked much as he did when he left but close and sympathetic observers noted that he carried with him a "certain air" of what might be called distinctiveness which was lacking when he hopped the rattle for the East ten days ago. He also left here wearing a cane and spats for which he had been carefully measured while in the large town. These made Ray Cox and Mack so sore that he's took 'em off and is now back in a plain serge suit and galoshes.

When asked if he had found out anything about what the Studebaker and the Overland folks were going to do this year he started to speak then slowly swelled up until Beal had to call a doctor to get him reduced to normal again. All of us judged that he had found out PLENTY but at this time was unable to say anything about it!

While I accompanied him on the trip in order to keep down his score of broken hearts and blasted lives I MUST say that I was very surprised at some of his antics! At a banquet given by the Studebaker folks for some 1100 of their dealers and friends Bernard wanted to climb on a chair and make a speech and when the toastmaster gave him the floor Bernard coughed a couple times, spit gently and asked "Gentlemen what I want to know is "WHERE ARE ALL THE PEOPLE GOING THAT I MET ON BROADWAY?"

Then he sat down and rested!

Later he rose in his chair to inquire HOW LONG IS A STRING?

He also took two rides in a subway but became frightened at the large number of people who tried to get on his car and got himself off at the next station.

As he had taken his Modern Etiquette Book for Ladies and Gentlemen and kept it with him at all times he did very well at MOST social affairs. The only mistake he made being the time he lifted the gin bottle from the table and repaired to the bath room to take a drink!

Outside of that he did reasonably well BUT HE IS SURE RUINED FOR XENIA! Have you heard him mutter and roar about the Studes?

Hoping you are the same I am yours very truly,

Shorty Sams

DRESSING FOR OCCASION SECRET OF "CHIC"

Favorite Fashion Adviser of the Smart Set. The fourth fundamental in the art of fashionable dressing is "dressing for the occasion."

I have outlined for you in my preceding articles the basic principles to consider in the selection of your clothes. Today I am briefly sounding a note of warning to you—that is—always try as you can to dress appropriately for the occasion and hour of the day.

The correct costume, in the proper surroundings and background, not only conveys your knowledge of the correct mode, but reflects the niceties of breeding and judgment. It is with this knowledge of correctness that you become unconscious of the details of your costume and that is something we all strive for.

I have shown here three typical costumes, characteristic of the occasions for which they are to be worn—morning, afternoon and evening. I do this to illustrate the principle I am discussing.

A morning or street costume should be simple. That is a necessary requirement for the business woman, too, for by morning or street costume I mean the business costume, too. Look at the model in the center. See the long, close-fitting sleeves, the simple rolling collar, the tailored pleats and the flat finish throughout. Sensible, yet attractive, you see!

In contrast to this, at left, afternoon frock (for those who can change) shows a more varied silhouette. There are two tones of material—plain and printed—a circular skirt, loose bishop sleeves and a bateau neckline relieved by a rope of pearls looped twice about the neck. Not for the office or street, surely, but certainly for the party or tea.

Further up the scale of treatment is the evening or formal party costume. The evening dress has a wider variety of interpretation than either of the two preceding ones. Just one example—this time for the young girl—a pastel chiffon frock which is just a billowing effect of sheer chiffon, layer upon layer. From a large flower worn toward the back of the shoulder, a single cascade falls to the hem-line, suggesting a freedom of motion and grace.

A place for everything and everything in its place, applies to clothes, too. Of course, if you want to outfit a wardrobe, take morning (street or office), afternoon, and evening into consideration. And don't forget a sport costume, too.

But remember, not only where you are, but who you are, when you dress.

Tomorrow I will tell you how "who you are" counts, if you seek to spend your clothes money wisely.

MAKING MODERN MENUS

A dish which is rich in nutrition is a vegetable soup made with milk, supplying the various elements necessary to health. Vegetable soup may practically constitute the main dish of the meal and when combined with a salad and dessert will satisfy any but the most ravenous appetite.

MILK VEGETABLE SOUP

Three tablespoons of butter, two tablespoons of minced onion, one-half cup of diced celery, one-half cup of diced potatoes, one-half cup of shredded carrots, boiling water to cover, salt, two tablespoons of minced celery leaves, four cups of milk. Melt the butter and cook the onion in it for a minute, add the vegetables, boiling water and salt, and cook until the vegetables are tender. Add the milk, minced celery leaves and more seasoning if necessary. Heat and serve with grated cheese and croutons.

SPECIAL TEA BISCUITS

Two cups of flour, one-half teaspoon of salt, four teaspoons of baking powder, five tablespoons of shortening, two-thirds cup of milk. Nuts, raisins or candied fruits cut in pieces. Sift together salt, flour and baking powder put in the shortening. Add milk, mix thoroughly and turn out on slightly floured board. Roll out to one-quarter inch thickness. Cut into biscuits with very small cutter. Brush the top of each biscuit with butter and press into it a nut and piece of candied fruit. Bake in hot oven for fifteen minutes. These can be served without butter.

HONEY LOU by Beatrice Burton

© JOHNSON FEATURES INC., 1926

READ THIS FIRST:

HONEY LOU HUNTLEY is private secretary to old "GRUMPY" WALLACK, head of the Wallack Fabric Mills. Honey Lou likes everyone at the mills except JOE MEADOWS, the shipping clerk, who makes love to her against her will.

JACK WALLACK, who comes to his father's mills to learn the business, falls in love with Honey Lou the minute he sees her. Brought up by an old-fashioned mother, Honey Lou is a mixture of flapper and clinging vine.

ANGELA ALLEN pretends to be a friend of Honey Lou and tells her not to take Jack seriously. Jack is very jealous of DR. STEVE MAYHEW, a friend of MARGRET, Honey Lou's sister.

Honey Lou's engagement to Jack is announced and plans are made for the wedding.

Jack and Honey Lou have a quiet home wedding and spend their honeymoon camping at Lake Tamany.

Honey Lou stops at the Wallack Mills office to see Ann Ludlow. Ann tells Honey Lou why she sent for her. Honey Lou sees Joe Meadows and tells him he must marry Ann at once and he agrees to do so.

Honey Lou and Jack settle down in their own flat with Mary Delaney, the cook.

Angela tells Honey Lou she is going to have a party for her and Jack Saturday night. Honey Lou goes home and finds Jack reading poems about little houses in the country filled with love and happiness. Honey Lou decides to let Mary go in the morning, do her own work, and try to make the kind of home Jack wants.

Tim Donegal tells of the card games he and Honey Lou have together and Jack forbids Honey Lou to have Tim Donegal in their house.

Honey Lou, angered by Jack's objections to Donegal, leaves the flat for her mother's home. Margaret tells her she has no reason to be jealous of Jane Ayres, Jack's secretary, but to watch Angela. Honey Lou returns to the flat, a quarrel follows.

Honey Lou moves into the guest room and further complicates her domestic affairs by her "silent treatment" of Jack.

Honey Lou, on a motor ride with Angela and Donegal, decides to follow Jack's wishes in regard to Donegal.

Donegal's arrest delays Honey Lou's and Angela's return until two in the morning.

The published news of Donegal's arrest in connection with the names of Angela and Honey Lou, together with Angela's duplicity, finally culminates in the separation of Jack and Honey Lou.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER LXIII

Margret and Steve were married on Thanksgiving Eve.

And on the first day of December Honey Lou went to work for Uncle Henry in his old ramshackle warehouse on Front street, down near the river.

The warehouse was very ramshackle and the offices were dirty and untidy. There was a sleepy air about the place.

But in spite of all that, Honey Lou knew that Uncle Henry carried on a fine and thriving business there that brought him in many thousands of dollars every year of his life—dollars that he hung on to, desperately, like the miser he was.

He imported all sorts of lovely things from China and India and Japan, and sold them at breath-taking prices. All day long, and every day, buyers came from all over the United States to Uncle Henry's old red warehouse.

"He's coining a mint of money down there, if you ask me," Honey Lou said to her mother at the end of her first day. "And I wish you'd tell me what he's going to do with all of it when he dies. He hasn't a living soul to give it to."

"He has your Aunt Lucy and you and me and Margret," Mrs. Huntley reminded her, measuring tea into the silver pot with the family crest on it.

"Well, I wish he'd hand over a little of his jack to me, right now. I could use it, this minute!" the girl answered with spirit.

Her voice had a note of weariness in it, and her face was flushed and not very clean-looking. A day

In the dusty, dusty old warehouse was no help to anyone's complexion.

Her feet ached and burned, too, and she was ready to drop.

It seemed to her that she never had been so tired in all her life before. She sat at supper, trying to eat mashed potatoes and meat balls, but it was like eating so much lead.

"I'm not hungry," she said, and pushed back her plate.

Mrs. Huntley gazed at her across the white and shining breadth of the little table, with sympathetic, tender eyes.

"You're tired, Honey-bird," she said, using an old nickname for her. "You go and take off your clothes, and I'll fix you a nice hot bath. And you'll feel better when you're in bed. Maybe you'll take a drop of tea, then, too."

"No, I'll help you with the dishes first," she answered. "You have been on your feet all day long, too. The trouble with me is that I'm soft—I haven't done anything for a year but play cards and drive around in Angela's automobile and have breakfast in bed at ten or eleven o'clock. I'll be all right in a day or two."

Mrs. Huntley was thoughtful. "Of course, I don't want you to have a nickel that doesn't belong to you," Honey Lou said, "but I DO think Jack ought to send you a little money now and then. After all, it was he who left you. You didn't leave him in the first place, and he owes you some kind of support."

Honey Lou shrugged her shoulders. "I suppose that's true—although I'd send it back to him if he did give me anything," she answered. "I don't want his money."

She began to stack the dirty dishes together.

"I always knew your married life would turn out badly," her mother said, out of a clear sky, a few minutes later. "Remember how it rained the day of your wedding? That's always a bad sign. I never knew it to fail."

Honey Lou burst out laughing, and all but dropped the platter she was wiping with a clean tea towel.

"Mother, you're a scream!" she declared. "I tried on my wedding veil before I was married, too, and that's a bad sign—"

Honey Lou visits the Mills and sees Joe Meadows in tomorrow's installment.

IS THERE NO RELIEF FROM SKIN TORTURE?

Must I Continue to Suffer the Unbearable Itching?

Are you one of those unfortunate who are going through life suffering with a skin disease, making you uncomfortable, making you less efficient, interfering with your working hours, ruining your sleep? You may have tried many things without relief. Why not try S.S.S.?

For more than 100 years it has been giving relief in many forms of skin disease. Thousands of letters of gratitude prove its worth.

"I feel so happy for what S.S.S. has done for me that I want others to know about it. I suffered twenty long years from eczema. At times the itching was unbearable. During that time, I used all kinds of salves without receiving any real benefit. After taking six bottles of S.S.S., I was cured of this dreadful disease. I recommend S.S.S. to anyone suffering from eczema, because I cannot praise it enough for what it has done for me." Cleophas Forte, Soldiers and Sailors Home, Quincy, Ill.

S.S.S. is purely vegetable. It is extracted from the fresh roots of medicinal plants and herbs and gives to Nature what she needs in building you up so that your system throws off the cause.

S.S.S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.
